Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: With respect to Applicant's arguments stating that the 103(a) reference do not teach or suggest receive information regarding a source schema and a target schema, the source and target schemas each comprising a taxonomy comprising a hierarchy of classes into which products are categorized, wherein the target schema comprises afferent expronomy then the taxonomy of the source schema, at least the source schema further comprising a product ontology associated with one or more of the classes, each product ontology comprising one or more product attributes." Examiner respectfully disagrees. Livesay discloses: receive information regarding a source schema and a target schema, the source and target schemas each comprising a taxonomy comprising a hierarchy of classes into which products are categorized, at least in Livesay at least discloses (FiG. 5 and paragraph [0019] and [0128], wherein goods are categorized accounting to attributes). Swamy in column 2-3 discloses the creation of XML schema between entities in order to exchange information via document (source and target schema) and defining relatationship between document hence the 103(a) references overcome the claim lanuage.

With respect to Applicant argument stating that the 103(a) reference do not teach or suggest "receive information regarding a source schema and a target schema, the source and target schema seach comprising a taxonomy comprising a hierarchy of classes into which products are categorized." Examiner respectfully disagrees. Livesay discloses (FIG. 5 and paragraph [0019], indicate the plurality of schema (XML data files) (buyer and seller) wherein the profite content grouping parameter is (taxonomy hierardy of classes)). Furtheremore, Swamy, discloses the creation of XML schema between entitles in order to exchange information via document (source and target schema) and defining relatationship between documents and the hierarchy matching.

With respect to Applicant argument stating that the 103(a) reference do not teach or suggest "hierarchy of classes". Examiner respectfully disagrees. Livesy alone discloses (FIG.38 and FIG.5, wherein the good/service are classified (category-disa) and paragraph (0019), illustrate the association of the buyer and seller based on profile content (product ontology) parameter (class)). Furthermore. Swamm discloses the creation of XML scheme between entities in order to exchange information via document fosurce and
